White Plains Youth Bureau Offers Educational Summer Camp Bits N’ Pieces Camp Registration Now Open!

White Plains, NY – April 22, 2015. For parents looking to ensure their children retain what they learned during the school year as well as have some traditional summer fun, look no further. Bits N’ Pieces Tutorial Summer Camp offer the best of both worlds.

Registration for the Youth Bureau’s Bits N’ Pieces Tutorial Summer Camp for 1st through 5th graders has begun. The camp will be held at Church Street Elementary School from July 6th through August 14th, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The Bit’s N’ Pieces Tutorial Summer Camp is organized so that children have an educational experience as well as enjoy a variety of fun activities. Certified teachers provide instruction in math, ELA, science, and computers in the morning followed by lunch and then fun activities such as arts and crafts, chess and physical activities including basketball, tennis, soccer, and good old playground fun. Bits N’ Pieces also offers daily trips to the pool. Breakfast, lunch and snacks are provided.

In addition, the Youth Bureau partners with local corporations, such as BUNGE and IBM, to provide campers with project based STEM learning. Fun trips are also part of the Bits N’ Pieces camp experience: Quassy Amusement Water Park, Liberty Science Center and more to be announced. Safety and supervision are always our priorities while the children learn and have fun.
